Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-13 and 25, drawn to a disk drive with serial magnetic heads, classified in class 360, subclass 55.
- II. Claims 14-18, drawn to a storage medium with a detector to time align the signals, classified in class 360, subclass 39.
- III. Claim 26, drawn to a disk method that outputs data bits according to its SNR, classified in class 360, subclass 39.

Inventions I and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because in order to read the signals serially you do not need to time align the signals. The subcombination has separate utility such as detecting the data bits being read according to the time aligned result.

Inventions I and III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different designs, modes of operation, and effects (MPEP § 802.01 and § 806.06). In the instant case, the different inventions perform different operations in the storage disk, Invention I reads serially the data bits to perform an average among the read signals and Invention III Claims about producing an SNR factor according to the plurality of signals being read in order to detect data bits.

Art Unit: 2627

Inventions III and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because Invention II can relate to a tape medium or a disk medium, while III only pertains to disk. The subcombination has separate utility such as time aligning the signals in a storage medium in order to sum the signals and combines the noise components in order to detect the signals.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and the inventions require a different ^{classification &} field of search (see MPEP § 808.02), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Glenda P. Rodriguez whose telephone number is (571) 272-7561. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday thru Thursday: 7:00-5:00; alternate Friday.
